Don't turn a blind eye: Every day lives are lost at work

WHO (World Health Organization) estimates that 2.1% of all deaths and 2.7% of the disease worldwide can be attributed to occupational risks. Thus, actions towards healthier and safer workplaces will contribute to improve and protect the lives of millions around the world.

According to ILO (International Labour Organization) estimates, nearly 3 million workers die every year due to work-related accidents and diseases, an increase of more than 5 per cent compared to 2015. Most of these work-related fatalities, totaling 2.6 million deaths, stem from work-related diseases. Work accidents account for an additional 330,000 deaths, according to the analysis.

Almost 4% of the world's annual GDP is lost due to incidents which could have been prevented.

The construction industry has a higher than average rate of accidents.

Younger and older workers are particularly vulnerable.

Prevention is not a cost, but an investment. It pays off.

According to the research project by the International Social Security Association (ISSA), the German Social Accident Insurance (DGUV) and the German Social Accident Insurance Institution for the energy, textile, electrical and media products sectors (BG ETEM) spending on occupational safety and health is an investment that "pays off".

The Return on Prevention (ROP) is assessed to be 2.2.

SAFETY

WELL-BEING

Well-being: The key to a sustainable future for everyone

CONSTITUTION OF THE WORLD HEALTH ORGANIZATION
"Health is a state of complete physical, mental and social well-being and not merely the absence of disease or infirmity."

Workers well-being is a key factor in determining an organization's long-term effectiveness. Many studies show a direct link between productivity levels and the general health and well-being of the workforce.

Well-being at work contributes to productivity, but also to a positive climate that transforms a passive productivity into a creative and proactive world of work, where workers and managers collaborate and take active steps to protect and promote the health, safety and wellbeing of all workers and thus contribute to the sustainability of the workplace and their business operations.

From June 10 to 18, 2024, a series of productive meetings were held to discuss collaboration on GISHW week at EXPO 2025. These meetings culminated in MoU signing ceremonies with several institutions, which are represented by the folders shown in pictures.

The Vision Zero Journey

The seed of VISION ZERO was first planted during the 2014 World Congress on Safety and Health at Work in Germany, driven by an ambitious objective of achieving zero accidents. Since then, collaborative efforts and actions, and the exchange of best practices and knowledge have been witnessed, propelling the movement as institutions, organizations, and companies embrace its mindset and expand the frontiers of its implementation.

Significant milestones include the issuance of the Vision Zero Tokyo Declaration for All during the Vision Zero Summit Japan 2022 and the announcement of the Global Initiative for Safety, Health, and Wellbeing and Beyond (GISHW) at the ORP Congress in 2023. Looking ahead to the SDGs' target year of 2030, GISHW envisions leveraging Expo2025 as a powerful platform to amplify the significance of safety, health, and well-being. Together with you, colleagues and friends, GISHW continues to strive for the safety, health, and well-being of global citizens.

SHW Week Overview

Safety, Health and Well-being at the World Expo 2025 in Osaka, Japan

EXPO2025, Osaka, Japan will take place from April to October 2025 under the theme "Designing Future Society for Our Lives." This theme, along with the Expo's sub-themes of "Saving Lives," "Empowering Lives," and "Connecting Lives," fully aligns with the objectives of the United Nation's Sustainable Development Goals. It also aligns with the concept of the Tokyo Declaration on Vision Zero for All, adopted in May 2022 at the Vision Zero Summit Japan. Consequently, the decision was made to launch a Global Initiative for Safety, Health, and Well-being at EXPO2025 and beyond (GISHW).

The goal of this new initiative is monumental: to improve the quality of work and life for the more than 8 billion inhabitants of our planet, starting with the workplaces. To achieve this, we have invited leading international safety, health, and well-being organizations, networks, and professionals from around the world to join the Global Initiative. We are immensely grateful for the support received from these organizations and individuals, enabling us to form a unique multilateral partnership for safety, health, and well-being and to officially establish the GISHW in less than one year.

GISHW is proud to announce that the Week on Safety, Health, and Well-being is scheduled to be held as part of EXPO2025 from July 16 to 19, 2025 in Osaka, Japan, marking a historic milestone for the comprehensive package of safety, health, and well-being programs to be incorporated for the first time in Expo history.

During the Week, Expo visitors and SHW experts from around the world will have the opportunity to enjoy six exciting activities: a High-level Summit, a World Assembly, a ILO Youth Congress, an International Symposium, a Festival, and a Theme Park/Exhibition.

Join the global occupational safety, health, and well-being community for an exciting exchange about the future of prevention in a rapidly changing world of work. GISHW warmly invites you to join us in Osaka in July 2025 and discover how you can contribute to building a safe, healthy, and socially sustainable future society for our lives.
